Missing Taxi Is Found Near Show

Albany Man Is Arrested at Carnival, Charged With Stealing Car

John Anthony Roots, 22, of 33 Ralfeet street, Albany, was returned to the capital city early today following his arrest last night by the state police on a charge that he had stolen a car owned by the Paramount Taxi Co. of Albany.

Roots, who, according to the police, is a recently discharged U. S. Marine, was arrested at the carnival now playing in a lot on Albany avenue.

The state police at Lake Katrine were notified that the taxi had been seen making trips to and from Kingston and that on the night of May 20 it was seen in a field near Lake Katrine where its driver had apparently spent the night.

The troopers were informed that the driver had reported that he was going to Kingston for a haircut and on their way to the city they stopped at the carnival grounds to check the cars there.

The car was watched and the troopers, who had been given a description of the driver, picked him out of the crowd and arrested him.

Corp. P. H. Weeks, Trooper John Metzger of the State Police, P. L. and Trooper J. S. Maich worked on the case. The car was reported stolen from Albany May 19.

N.L.R.B. Rules No Elections Allowed in Certain States

Administrative Order Says 13 States Already Have Regulations on Union Shops

Washington, May 21 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board ruled today that it can not hold union shop elections in 13 states which have bans or regulations covering the subject.

The board issued an administrative order making the ruling. It is based on a majority opinion of three of its five members.

The agency said the Taft-Hartley Act "in effect removes all federal restrictions upon existing and future state legislation prohibiting compulsory unionism."

The Taft-Hartley Law bans the "closed shop" but allows a union shop if a majority of workers vote for it.

In a closed shop, only union members can be hired. In a union shop, the management may hire a non-union man but he must join the union after his employment.

The N.L.R.B. had no estimate of the number of workers who would be unable to obtain union shop elections under the ruling.

The states are Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Maine, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

The board issued its decision in a case which ran into the District state regulations on union shop elections. It involved the Giant Food Shopping Center, Inc., and Local 1501 of the Retail Clerks International Association (A.F.L.).

Giant Food has a chain of food stores. The clerks union asked a union shop election for the District of Columbia and Virginia stores.

Ross Madden, Baltimore regional director of the N.L.R.B., refused to hold an election on grounds it would conflict with Virginia law.

His position was upheld by N.L.R.B. members James J. Reynolds, Abe Murdock, and J. Copeland Gray.

Chairman Paul M. Herzog and John M. Houston dissented. They said they believed the board has legal right to hold the election, but that as an administrative question they would be inclined to agree with the majority.

The three majority members—Reynolds, Murdock and Gray—said the Taft-Hartley Act and its legislative history make it clear that it was "the intent of Congress to leave to the executive jurisdiction of the states the prohibition of union shop agreements to the extent that prohibition in this respect now exists or may hereafter exist in such states."

Oregon Trail Ends For Stassen and Dewey in Vote Race

Three Weeks of Campaign Has Photo Finish; Both Pin Hopes on Primary

Portland, Ore., May 21 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen came to an end of the Oregon political trail today in their race for Oregon's Republican presidential favor.

It was a photo finish to a furious and sometimes acrimonious three weeks of campaigning.

Neither the New Yorker nor the Minnesotan was bold enough to claim victory in advance of the balloting.

Both Dewey and Stassen were pinning a large share of their presidential hopes on the outcome of the elections—the last direct presidential preference primary before the Republican party nominates a standard bearer at Philadelphia next month.

Both brought their campaigns to a close last night in Portland. For the past 20 days they have crisscrossed Oregon from border to border in unprecedented "personal" campaigns in which each spoke to an estimated 100,000 persons.

Stassen's downtown business section last night resounded to the blare of bands and was lit by red flares as Stassen supporters paraded through the streets in a campaign finale.

Both candidates took to the "radio" in last appeals to the voters. Stassen, speaking at a suburban banquet, told his audience:

"I say it frankly—we can win nationally only if the people of Oregon make our campaign their campaign."

The Minnesotan, who confidently called the turn in advance in Nevada and Wisconsin, made no prediction on the Oregon outcome.

Neither did his rival, Governor Dewey, in his concluding statement, voiced the hope Oregonians would see eye to eye with him. He let it go at that.

Two New Factors
Obscuring the outcome are two factors new to this year's elections.

One is a 39 per cent increase in Oregon's population since the war. The other, a corollary, is a 30 per cent increase in registration since the 1944 elections.

The count was expected to be slow. Closeness of the contest made it probable the final outcome might not be known before Saturday evening.

In keeping with Oregon tradition, both Stassen and Dewey were to leave the state today without waiting for the final results.

Stassen was scheduled to fly to Minnesota in preparation for a visit to Springfield, Mo., next Monday or Tuesday. Sometime next week he is due back on the west coast to pay a call on Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Kemble, Picciotti Are Sentenced in Court After Pleas

Attempted Abortion Case Brings Suspension for Kemble; Barber Held for Jersey

Urban T. Kemble of Hurley and Daniel Picciotti, Ellenville barber, who were indicted by the grand jury on a charge of attempted abortion involving a 19-year-old Ellenville girl, were given jail sentences in County court this morning when they entered pleas of guilty to violation of Section 43, a misdemeanor, and in the case of Picciotti a sentence of 109 days in jail was imposed and time already served in jail since his arrest in February was credited toward the sentence. This allowed Picciotti to leave jail today.

However, Picciotti, who has satisfied the local law enforcement officials, has not satisfied the New Jersey authorities and a warrant for his retention which has been in the sheriff's office was served and he will be taken back to New Jersey to face a forgery and worthless check charge.

Picciotti, represented by Frank Martocci, and Kemble, represented by Charles J. Flanagan, changed their former pleas of innocent to the charge of attempted abortion and pleaded to a violation of Section 43, an omnibus section which takes in many changes. Both waived the usual 48 hours before sentence and Picciotti was sentenced to 109 days in the county jail, and time already served in jail was credited toward the sentence and he was placed on probation.

Both attorneys in the case stated that they felt under the evidence which would be produced on trial, that a conviction of the defendants would not be forthcoming.

Wells New Officer On Police Force; Van Buren Is Chief

Raymond B. Wells, 35, of 86 Pine street, was appointed a patrolman with the Kingston Police Department by the Board of Police Commissioners Thursday afternoon and Acting Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren was given his permanent appointment as chief of police.

Wells was born in this city, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wells, also of 86 Pine street. During the second World War, he served for three years with the U. S. Army Air Forces, which included service in the Pacific theater of operations.

Wells has served as a special patrolman with the local department for about two years. His father, George Wells, is also a special patrolman, having served the department when called upon during the past 32 years.

Raymond Wells was appointed to the vacancy existing since the resignation of Ralph G. Seism on April 22. Wells was first on a list of three names certified as eligible by the Municipal Civil Service Commission. His appointment is effective June 1.

Raymond Van Buren, who has been serving as acting police chief since the injury of the late Chief of Police Ernest A. Ross in November, 1947, was appointed to the permanent post of police chief, following certification by the civil service commissioners this morning.

President Kennedy Hyatt, acting on behalf of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, presented the new chief with a bouquet of flowers in honor of his appointment.

In his monthly report submitted to the commissioners Thursday afternoon, Chief of Police Van Buren revealed that six persons had been injured in five automobile accidents in this city during the month of April. Of the accidents, four involved two or more motor vehicles and one involved a motor vehicle and a pedestrian, according to the report.

Another report submitted by the chief showed that 52 persons, including two women, had been arrested by the department during April.

Soviet Missions Are Restricted to One Entry Point at Helmstedt; A.M.G. Says Germans to Be Protected Against Molestation

Berlin, May 21 (AP)—United States occupation authorities retaliated today against Russian missions to the American zone of Germany to a single frontier point.

American officials said last night's ruling was made by European command headquarters at Frankfurt because the Russians decreed that the American military mission stationed at Potsdam could cross into the Soviet zone only at Helmstedt.

The Americans responded by notifying members of the four Russian missions in the U. S. zone that they, too, could cross only at Helmstedt.

Helmstedt is in the British zone on the Soviet border and is on the highway linking Berlin with the west.

The American mission previously was allowed to cross the Soviet zone border at any point.

American authorities emphasized that the action does not mean a closing of the border between the U. S. and Soviet zones. They called it merely a reciprocal move affecting only official Soviet missions.

The American military government in Berlin announced that Germans in the U. S. sector will be "protected against molestation and intimidation" by persons seeking signatures for a Communist-inspired national plebiscite on a unified Germany.

The petitions already had been banned in the western section of Germany. The announcement said the plebiscite is "needless and pointless."

The petitions are being circulated by the Communist-dominated "Socialist Unity party (S.E.D.). The plebiscite begins May 23 in eastern Germany.

The Soviet military administration demanded today that the Americans revoke their action in banning Russian-sponsored publications from the U. S. zone.

The Americans said the ban Continued on Page Eleven

Boys' Club Report Heard by Director To Plan Projects

Members of the advisory board of the Kingston Boys Club met at the headquarters, 21 Clinton avenue, Thursday night to hear reports on the first year of operation of the club and to discuss plans for the coming year.

Advisory board members present were Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, County Judge John M. Cashin, Bernard A. Colleton, Raymond Rignall, Kenneth Hyatt, Harry L. Edson, Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, Rabbi Frank Plotke, the Rev. Stephen D. Conrad, Francis Antkowiak, William Schaffrick, Raymond Nadal, Capt. Andrew Hickey and Warren Smith.

At the suggestion of Judge Cashin, the group decided to meet within 10 days in the judge's chambers at the county court house, at 100 West Main street, to be elected and plans for expanding the boys club work will be discussed.

Officers Installed
Before the meeting of the advisory board, the boys held a meeting, at which time officers for the coming year were installed. The new officers are:

Eugene McSpirt, Kingston High School, president; David Wachtel, high school, treasurer; William Lee, high school, secretary; Raymond Van Buren, School No. 8, assistant supervisor; Donald Post and Kenneth Hotelling, both of School No. 8, assistant craft leaders; James Taylor, School No. 8, chairman of entertainment committee; Robert Weisman, School No. 2, chairman of the school committee; Edward Dougherty and William Minkler, both of School No. 1, representatives of the downtown group; and Louis Davis and James Rockwell, both of School No. 7, representatives of the uptown group.

In making his report, Alexander No. 2, chairman of the school committee, said that at present there are applications for membership on file for 561 boys. Most of these have not been accepted because of lack of meeting space and other facilities, he said.

Present activities of the club, Fuhrman said, include sponsoring a basketball team, three softball teams, a craft group, art classes, stamp club, chess club, and the "Flying Squadron," a group of boys interested in studying aviation.

Jews Are Making Last Stand in Synagogue After Arabs Capture Another Structure

Rail Station Held Haganah Still Holds Depot on Southern Side of City

Within the old city in Jerusalem, May 21 (AP)—The end of a four-day-old battle for old walled Jerusalem seemed to be in sight today.

Arabs claimed last night that their forces controlled 80 per cent of the old city, seized by their forces or abandoned by the Jews.

The Jewish Haganah and Irgun Zvai Leumi had been driven back to a thin defense line along the west side of the Jewish quarter.

Midway of that line, they were holed up for a last stand in the Beit Yaakov or Hurva (Ruins) synagogue, on a spot where Jews have worshipped for 700 years and two earlier temples have been destroyed.

The Jews withdrew into that synagogue yesterday with Arab capture of the Tiferet Israel Synagogue, Jerusalem's tallest structure, to the east.

King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan Arab Legion was at their backs, threatening to block escape. The Legion had most of the Armenian quarter, west of the Jewish section. It was reported unofficially in firm control of Zion gate just below that quarter in the southernmost of Jerusalem's 400-year-old walls.

Legionnaires on the gate traded automatic weapon fire yesterday with Jews in a school on Mount Zion a few score yards away.

(A delayed dispatch from Carter L. Davidson of the Associated Press in the Jewish area of Jerusalem said that when 100 young Jews penetrated Zion gate Wednesday, it was the first time in almost 500 years the city walls had been forced. The dispatch was dated Wednesday. The Jews went in to reinforce defenders of the Jewish quarter.)

Thrust To Gate
In the new city outside the walls, the legion had thrust from the northern limits down Ramallah road to the Damascus gate on the north side of the old city and last night was trying to clear the Jews from Allenby Square opposite the gate.

West of there legion gunners pushed back Jewish defenders from the north side of the Mea Shearim quarter, including Central Prison, the law courts, the Russian cathedral and the Abyssinian Church.

Arab artillery covered the Ramallah road push.

On the southwest side of the new city, Haganah still held the railroad station but was reported to have withdrawn from the Government Printing Building.

Jewish mortar fire aimed near the Damascus and Herod's gates in the north wall caused Arab civilian casualties yesterday.

The old city. Arabs held nearly everything north and east of the walls except Mount Scopus Jewish positions.

In the old city's Jewish quarter, the easternmost Midrash Porat Yosef Synagogue and Mishgash LeChoch Hospital have been pounded into virtual ruins by legion artillery fire, but no sacred structures outside that quarter seem to have suffered much damage.

An announcement was made in Beirut, Lebanon, last night that authorities of Trans-Jordan, Lebanon, Syria and Iraq went to conference in Deraa, Syria, yesterday, on plans for Palestine's future.

A dispatch dated "somewhere near the Syrian-Trans-Jordan frontier" said it was the first time King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan and the Syrian and Lebanese presidents had met together since they helped form the Arab League three years ago.

Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, Arab League secretary general, told them, "all Arab leaders are determined that the Arab states will not under any circumstances cease fighting in Palestine until the capitulation of the Zionists."

To Extend Benefits
Washington, May 21 (AP)—President Truman will ask Congress in a special message to extend benefits of the Social Security law, Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), Senate minority leader, said after a White House conference today that the message will go to Capitol Hill within a few days. Presumably the message will recommend extension of Social Security benefits to farm labor, domestics, self-employed persons and other groups not now covered.

Court of Appeals Validates N. Y. Rent and Eviction Laws

Albany, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—In a decision of wide significance, the Court of Appeals has upheld validation of New York city's local rent control and eviction laws by the 1948 State Legislature.

The highest state tribunal ruled unanimously yesterday that the validating measure was constitutional and a proper exercise of legislative powers.

The act was speeded through the Legislature last winter after a State Supreme Court justice had declared the city's so-called Sharkey Rent Laws unconstitutional.

Issue of Case
The issue was whether the city could compel landlords to get permission from the city's temporary Housing Rent Commission before beginning eviction proceedings in municipal courts.

The Sharkey Laws also provide for local rent control to supplement federal regulation. Under the local law, the city can place controls on rents over which Federal regulation lapsed.

The rent control provisions of the local laws were not contested in the two cases on which the Court of Appeals acted.

The high court reversed a lower court ruling that the Sharkey Laws were unconstitutional and affirmed another decision that upheld the rent commission in refusing to grant an eviction certificate.

Loughran's Opinion
Chief Judge John T. Loughran wrote in the opinion that adoption of a local law through state legislation "may be entirely in order, even if the local law itself was not a legitimate exercise of city power."

Restaurant Held Up

New York, May 21 (AP)—Chumley's Restaurant at 86 Bedford street, widely-known gathering place of writers and other Greenwich Villageites for many years, was held up shortly before closing hour early today. A tall robber lined 10 bar patrons against a wall and menaced a score seated in booths. Then he took $40 from the cash register. Mrs. Henrietta Chumley, proprietor and widow of the restaurant's founder, threw an ash tray at the robber, and he fled.

Young Comic Book Fliers Take Plane on 120-Mile Hop

Oklahoma City, May 21 (AP)—Two fifth-graders who studied flying in comic books confessed to the state patrol last night they piloted a stolen plane almost to Texas.

"There is no doubt about it," the patrol said. "The plane was a two-place Ercoupe with simplified controls advertised as nearly fool-proof."

"They said it was easy," Trooper Arch Hamilton said. "They'd looked at some comic books that told all about it. They thought we were silly not to know how."

"They made a perfect landing." Astonishment at the 120-mile flight — air distance — almost drowned out talk of a juvenile court hearing tomorrow morning.

"It's incredible. I am astounded. This is more than mere mischief," one of the fathers, Attorney Burney P. Bodard, said.

The grade-school aviators are Jimmy Bodard, 11, and Robert Ronald Peterson, 12. Both families are prominent here. Robert, the largest, weighs 85 pounds.

How Case Was Cracked
 Troops cracked the case when all evidence pointed to an unbelievable but unescapable conclusion.

Jimmy and Robert played hooky from school Monday, and were reported missing the next day. Tuesday night they were picked up in the little western Oklahoma town of Cheyenne, due west of here and 18 miles from the Texas Panhandle. They told a likely story of hitch-hiking by road, and Wednesday their folks brought them back home.

But yesterday the sheriff of Roger Mills county found the Ercoupe abandoned in a field eight miles northwest of Cheyenne.

Inspectors from the C.A.A. traced the numbers to Ted Goller, former Ercoupe dealer at the downtown airport here. It hadn't been seriously missed.

"I knew it was gone but I thought Goller had it out," said Bob Fitzgerald, assistant airport manager.

Sgt. Otis Halton and Trooper Arch Hamilton took the case and linked the two Cheyenne incidents.

"When we put it to them they broke down and told us all about it," Hamilton said.

Confession He Got
 Here is his account of what the boys said to him:

"They hung around the airport Monday afternoon, and slept in a Jessna plane in a hangar that night. They fooled around Tuesday, and at 8 p. m. pushed the Ercoupe out onto the runway, fired it, and took off."

Fitzgerald said he chased them out of the hangars several times, but they told him they were waiting for their brother to land.

Hamilton went on: "They said they took turns flying, and didn't have any trouble. They said it bounced a little when they landed in a farm field. But when they tried to taxi they hit soft dirt and the undercarriage buckled."

"Then they took the farmer's saddle horse and rode near town, turned the horse loose and walked on in. The sheriff got them."

Bodard said he thought the Peterson boy did most of the flying.

"I don't know what to believe. I can't say I'm proud of Jimmy. I've got to think this one out," he said.

But Hamilton admitted a certain admiration. "They'd read all about it in gang books and comic magazines," he repeated, wonderingly.

"They knew just what to do."

NO TRESPASSING

"Fishermen and other holiday makers in the countryside are discovering that the pleasant spots where they might disport themselves, without defiance of a 'no-trespassing' sign, are growing fewer and fewer because of fire risks," says the Saturday Evening Post editorially. The Post then cites the case of a correspondent who lives on average that contains an excellent brook. He once allowed fishermen to come on his property and the state stocked the stream. But, the Post goes on, "Our informant had half a dozen minor scares from abandoned fires during the first few fishing seasons, and one major one in which more damage was done to fine trees than all the fish in the township were worth. Since then the warden has not stocked the brook, and the angler who coasts along the road in his car, looking for a place to throw his line into a promising stream, finds an unbroken succession of signs telling him what the law will do to him if he trespasses."

This is tough on the fisherman and the hunter. And it's a great deal tougher on the people whose property is razed by fire, the magnificent stands of forests that are turned into ash, and the wildlife which is killed in its nests and caves. No one can honestly claim that forest fires are natural and inevitable. The cold figures prove that 90 per cent of them are caused by individual carelessness.

We must enforce fire safety laws to the letter. And, far more important, we must learn the basic rules of fire prevention in the outdoors and everywhere else. Do you want to be the one who causes the death of a forest and its inhabitants?

There is more than meets the eye in the De Mille demand for a "right to work," especially if it is joined with the will to work. On the latter largely depends the progress of mankind.

POWER FOR EUROPE

The experts who are planning for the application of E.R.P. credits to the production of electric power for Europe are considering the continent as a whole.

Even before the war some realization of this necessity resulted in a few steps toward coordination, but Europe is still short eight billion kilowatt hours of electricity. In remedying this situation, France is swapping electric power with Switzerland for a reconstruction loan for towns in Normandy. British authorities permit a billion kilowatt hours a year to be transmitted from the Ruhr Valley to France.

Projected developments are in the planning stage between France, Italy, Spain and Belgium. Power plants in Austria, which helped Germany alone under Hitler, are now in process of transformation in order to furnish power to Switzerland, Italy and southern Germany.

This aspect of the move toward economic cooperation in Europe is of basic importance. Recovery will be hastened by the broad application of electric power. Concentrated effort toward its attainment may soon make outside aid unnecessary.

Speaking of contented souls, what is more contented than a frog in mid-summer? Every fellow in the swamp thinks he's a meistersinger.

GETTING BUSINESS FACTS

How many retail stores are there in the United States? Nobody knows, but a good many business men would like to find out. One way would be to get prompter and fuller reports from the Census Bureau, and so far it has not been possible to get action to that end out of Congress.

The Bureau is to make this year a census of manufacturers. It would help greatly if a survey could also be made of business and distribution, and this could be got out of the way before work has to start on the big census of 1950.

It is hard to get the idea across to congressmen, many of whom would like to make a big name by economizing on projects that do not interest them. One congressman was

THESE CURIOUS PRIZES

Collier's Magazine each year gives a prize to a member of the United States Senate and a member of the House of Representatives "For Distinguished Congressional Service." Along with the citation, a gift of $10,000 is given to each winner to be given to public purposes designated by the winner. This year the prizes went to Alben W. Barkley, Senator from Kentucky, and Christian A. Herter, Representative from Massachusetts. Both are able men, Senator Barkley having led his party for many years; Congressman Herter having made a masterly investigation of conditions in Europe in connection with E.R.P. Barkley is a Democrat; Herter a Republican.

The setup surrounding this prize-giving is complex. Collier's keeps out of it, except for a representative in Washington, James C. Derieux, who acts as liaison between the publishers and a committee which makes the final selections. This year the Committee was headed by Eric A. Johnston and consisted of 20 members. In order to be adequately advised, the Committee is provided with considerable data, including two polls. According to the setup, the Committee forms its own conclusions and it may ignore all the polls and all the data provided. Why Collier's bothers busy men to make decisions which may be, and this year were, ignored, it is difficult to understand. Perhaps, if the pollsters knew that their votes did not count, they would save themselves the effort. The polls are kept confidential so that usually the candidates for the prizes as well as the public assume that the final decision of Collier's Committee in some way reflects the polls.

For instance, 28 Washington newsmen, editors, broadcasters and columnists were polled this year in an advisory poll. They were asked to make first, second and third choices. Twenty candidates for the Senatorial prize appeared and the top five for first choice were as follows:

Taft	12
Barkley	3
Flanders	3
Tracy	2
Tobey	2

An advisory nationwide poll of Daily Newspaper Editors for the Senatorial prize shows for the top five as first choice:

Taft	113
Vandenberg	45
Byrd	21
Morse	9
Barkley	6

For the House of Representatives, the first five for first choice among the Washington newsmen, etc. shows:

Herter	16
Eaton	3
Halleck	2
Joe Martin	2
Dirksen	1

The nationwide poll of Daily Newspaper Editors for the first five for first choice shows:

Joe Martin	47
Hartley	42
Herter	31
Knutson	14
Halleck	12

Regarding the Senatorial prize, the winner on the basis of both these polls would have been Senator Robert A. Taft; for the Congressional prize, it would be between Christian A. Herter and Joe Martin. In spite of the difference in both polls, the Committee chose Barkley, who was second in one poll and fifth in the other.

There is much to be gleaned from these polls as to national interest and popularity, and as to that, there will be further reference in this column. (Copyright, 1948, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

MYALGIA, MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM
When a patient complains of pain in the abdomen in the region of the stomach, liver or appendix, it is only natural that he thinks he has stomach, liver, or appendix disease. The patient may be so insistent about the persistence and the severity of his pain that the physician may order X-rays, or even suggest an operation. The X-ray finding, however, shows no disturbance of any abdominal organs.

What patients and even some physicians forget is the old-fashioned muscular rheumatism, called "myalgia." In recent years, today this disease or ailment is called fibrositis as it is really an inflammation of the fibrous ends of the muscle fibres, the part—a fraction of an inch or even inches—attaching the muscles to bones. Like other inflammations, it causes an overgrowth of this white, fibrous tissue with painful nodules that often can be felt with the fingers. Also, when an inflammation passes it leaves scars in the tissue—causing pain and interfering with the normal action of the tissues in the regions affected.

In the "Canadian Medical Association Journal," Drs. J. J. Patton and J. A. Williamson, Montreal, state, that, while fibrositis may occur in muscles anywhere in the body, it is most common in the muscles of the back—particularly in the back of the neck or at the lower end of the spine in the muscles on which we sit. Pain also may be present in the muscles which hold the spine erect.

The pain due to fibrositis may cause even the physician to suspect disease in one of the abdominal organs, instead of inflammation of fibrous ends of muscles on the "outside" of the body.

It is in fibrositis (also called muscular rheumatism and myalgia) that physical therapy—treatment by heat, alternating cold and hot baths, electrical treatment, and massage—gives best results. In addition, as fibrositis may be of rheumatic origin, it is aggravated by cold and dampness—salcylates are sometimes prescribed.

Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis
Sufferers with chronic rheumatism and arthritis will find many helpful suggestions as to diet, heat, massage, and other aids in Dr. Barton's booklet entitled "Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis." told by a member of a large company that the business census of 1939, the last one taken, had caused it to hire 20,000 more salesmen. Said he in great surprise, "Oh, then, this idea does have some practical value!"

WHY NOT BELIEVE HIM?

What does a man have to say to be believed? General Eisenhower refused to be a candidate for the Republican nomination in language as clear and precise as could be. Talk still continued, this time by the Democrats. Now, about to assume the presidency of Columbia University, Eisenhower has been asked again by reporters to state his stand. He said positively that it was just the same as when he wrote his famous letter, that his position had not altered in any way. Why not take him at his word?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington—It will be interesting to see what the Senate does about the seating of William Fozell, appointed to the vacancy left by the late Senator Overton of Louisiana by Governor Earl Long.

Two aspects of Mr. Fozell's career are interesting. One is the large amount of cash he contributed to Governor Long's campaign. Second is a grand jury proceeding held by Assistant Attorney General John Rogge in 1939 showing that Fozell was involved in a big gas deal with Governor Dick Leche, who served a jail term in connection with another matter.

Louisiana politicians say that Mr. Fozell was by all odds the largest contributor to Gov. Long's campaign—donated over $200,000. Louisiana, incidentally, isn't bothered about limits to state campaign contributions.

In the past, the Senate has been cranky about large amounts of money influencing senatorial elections. Senator Smith of Illinois was denied a seat when his campaign contributions went over $100,000. Senator Lorimer of Illinois was seated for the same reason. Senator Newberry of Michigan finally resigned from the Senate while his colleagues were probing his large campaign gifts, and Senator Vane of Pennsylvania was denied his seat when his gifts ran around $200,000. All these were Republicans. Now comes a Democrat who was not running for office but helped handsomely to put a governor in office. Then that governor turns round and puts his chief monetary benefactor in the Senate. A Republican Senate may want to think this over.

On top of this is the fact that when the Justice Department was probing the Louisiana scandals, John Rogge unearthed the fact that $25,000 had been paid by United Gas Improvement Corp., an Electric Bond and Share subsidiary, to Tom Hill, a big New Orleans gambler, who in turn passed part of the money on to Governor Dick Leche, part to Louisiana's new senator, William Fozell, and kept part for himself.

Reason for this unusually large payment by a big corporation to three interesting Louisiana figures never was revealed. For about that time Roosevelt threw cold water on the Louisiana probe. However, the present Republican Senate may want to continue the unfinished story of Louisiana where the Justice Department left off.

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

This story is guaranteed to start your day off wrong. If I were you, I'd skip it and turn to the funnies. . . .

I first met the late Fred Bissel twenty years ago. He was head box-office man at the theatre which housed one of my early schitzels. During his brief run, I never once saw him crack a smile.

"What's eating Fred?" I asked him one night. "He's always been that way," the assistant said. "He's married to a dame who never stops talking and his only son is a bum."

A few years later, I produced a mixture of passion and pachyderms called "Jumbo." Fred Bissel was one of the men in the Hippodrome box-office. Shortly after the show opened, he asked me to give his son, Harry, a job.

"I hear he's had stuff," I said. "You haven't heard the half of it," said Fred. "If you don't watch him, he'll walk away with the theatre."

"That's quite a recommendation," I said. "If I hire him, will you keep an eye on him?" "I'll try," said Bissel, "but it'll be like trying to keep an eye on a three-card monte dealer."

A month after I hired Harry, his father came to my office. "I'm afraid you'll have to let him out," he said. "He's booking horses in the balcony, and having a thing with one of the lady acrobats."

I let Harry out pronto. From what I had heard around the theatre, it was only a matter of time before his thumbs would be objects d'art to every police photographer in the Union.

A few months ago, I read in VARIETY that Fred Bissel had died. Yesterday my switchboard operator told me his son was waiting to see me. I put my ring in my pocket and told her to send him down. Harry walked into my office wearing a suit with fifty man-hours of hand-stitching in the lapels alone.

"What can I do for you?" I asked. "I'm opening a ticket agency," said Harry. "And I was wondering if you'd fix me up with some downtown locations in your theatre."

"What makes you think you rate it?" I asked. "I'm not saying I rate it," said Harry. "I only came around because I know you were fond of my father."

"Leave your dad out of it," I said. "As I remember it, he didn't have much use for you."

"That's what I thought," said Harry, "until the lawyer read his will."

"Give it to me in sequence," I said. "After my father's funeral," said Harry. "The family gathered to hear the reading of the will. We knew Pop had something like seventy thousand saved up. Box-office man, you know, do pretty well for themselves when there's a hit in the theatre."

"I've heard about such things," I misused. "I was quite a will," said Harry. "The first paragraph cut off my old lady without a penny. It explained that Pop had hated every minute of his married life—the bum meals, the nagging and the eternal giving-in."

The second paragraph left every cent to me. All his life, Pop said, he had wanted to do the things I'd been doing—dances, dice, horses and booze. Consequently he was leaving his dough to the one person who would blow it in like he had always dreamed of doing. He said he hoped I'd go on a ten-year tour, take out a different gig every night, and drop big bundles at the track. He said he expected me to wind up in the gutter, and regretted he couldn't be there with me."

"Nice third-act curtain," I said. "I didn't know your dad was that much of a showman. How much of the seventy grand have you got left?"

"Practically all of it," sighed Harry. "At first, I went nuts—bought a dozen suits, a convertible, and called a lot of telephone numbers. Then I got to thinking. I realized I wasn't a kid any more, and if I didn't watch out, I'd wind up like my old man, said I would. That's why I've latched onto this ticket agency idea."

I walked over to the window and looked down on Sixth Avenue. "Poor Fred Bissel," I thought. "He couldn't even go on a tear by proxy."

Federal Injunction Might Not Be Able to Hold Off July 5 Coal Strike

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 21—It's almost certain there will be a coal strike beginning July 5th next. Whether it can be ended by a Federal injunction seems doubtful, for the circumstances will be somewhat different from any that have occurred before.

Back of the decision of John L. Lewis to refuse to bargain with coal operators because they will not let him name his own personnel representing the miners in the negotiations is a deeper and more fundamental piece of strategy. He objects particularly to any representative from the Southern Coal Operators' Association. This happens to be the largest single group of coal operators in the national conference.

The total tonnage mined by the southern group is about twice that of any other single group. As a matter of fact, they would like to bargain as a separate group anyway as they prefer different clauses in their contracts, but inasmuch as Mr. Lewis negotiated separately with the northern group last year and then compelled the southern group to accept the same terms, the southern companies decided they had better have a voice in the original negotiation.

It is technically true that last year the southern group was not a party to the original contract and that they made a settlement along the same lines separately. It is also true that in certain of the previous years the southern group joined with the northern group in making the initial contract. There is no rule of law permitting the bargaining agents to be permanently detached through an agreement between certain employer groups and the union. Each year presents different questions. A contract can be signed between unions and employers agreeing to exclude others from participating, but under the Taft-Hartley law such a contract cannot supersede the collective bargaining responsibilities and obligations of a union. No private contract can supersede the law of the land.

Whenever the operators wish to bargain as a group they alone have the right to say who shall sit on the negotiations.

When Mr. Lewis named three men who, he says, have it within their power to prevent a coal strike, he is merely trying to get those same three men to take the responsibility for an initial contract which could be forced on the other operators without giving the latter a voice in the negotiations. But the three men—

Messrs. Fairless of U. S. Steel, Humphrey of Consolidation Coal Company and Francis of Island Creek Coal—are not likely to break away from their own employer group and negotiate a separate contract no matter how Mr. Lewis may urge such a course of disunity.

If any of the coal operators said they would like to negotiate a separate contract with miners in certain states and negotiate with another group of coal unions in other regions and ignore the top miners union, the speed with which the miners' union counsel would run to the National Labor Relations Board to get an injunction would be record-breaking. Although the union bosses prate loudly on the subject of injunctions, they never seem to mention that the labor board has been issuing injunctions against employers under the Wagner Act ever since 1935.

There is reason to believe that Mr. Lewis really isn't interested in early negotiations with the operators and that he never would have begun negotiations at all if it not been for the notice given by the coal operators of the termination of their present contract. The rumor is that Mr. Lewis never intended to give notice of termination as required under the Taft-Hartley law, but was forced into it because the operators did so, as they were advised by counsel that both parties had to give at least 60 days notice when a contract was approaching its end.

The present contract in the coal mines ends June 30 but from June 28 to July 5 the present contract provides for a "vacation" during which time the miners get $100 each. Since there are 400,000 miners the vacation money amounts to $40,000,000 which the companies really contribute toward financing the miners on their "holiday" or on their strike if the "holiday" is extended.

But once the miners are out and the contract has expired, how can the government by injunction get the miners back to work? If there has been no settlement in accordance with the Lewis demands—and he probably will raise the price to go back pending the usual negotiations required by the Taft-Hartley Act.

But there's a strike ahead and it will come just before the president is up for renomination at the Philadelphia convention on July 12. (Reproduction rights reserved)

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The call on the National Guard to suppress violent insurrection at packing plants in Minnesota is an inferential salute to an obscure cop named Dahlin, the assistant chief of police of Kansas City, Kansas.

The C.I.O. has been an incorrigible enemy of the people of the United States ever since it was organized under conditions exactly like the anarchy recently re-enacted in Minnesota and Kansas City, Kans.

When the C.I.O.'s goons blocked the Minnesota packing plants, Governor Youngdahl gave them their political cue to shake merry in the traditional C.I.O. way. He belittled the right of good citizens to go to their jobs unmolested, with a crack about the triviality of assaults on "scabs."

Now, in all such C.I.O. disorders, the non-striking workers are not strike-breakers but Americans, admirable for their moral and physical courage. They refuse to quit their jobs at the order of the lowest elements in the plant and the New York organizers, the civic superior of any public official who calls him a "scab."

The Minnesota pickets, flouted all the definitions of picketing offered by the C.I.O.'s own lawyers. Picketing is, by them reduced to the exercise of the rights of free speech and of assembly. Courts held that three pickets could adequately prevent the message of cooperation of unionists, which is what the C.I.O. is, and that personal abuse of citizens on lawful grounds was not inherent in that right. The right of assembly always has been subject to license and restraints.

Violence followed the sneering remark of "Stassen" governor about "scabs." Sheriff and police who appeal to mobs for campaign funds, offered the spectacle of the law in flight, with court writs crumpled in the hands of cowardly deputies.

In Kansas City, Kans., the goons incited the poor slob employed in the local plant to the mobbing of the cops. A judge wisely called attention to existing laws against assault, disorder, unlawful assembly, vandalism and other common practices of the C.I.O. No injunction was neces-

Pennsylvania Gets Award of $92,800

Philadelphia, May 21 (AP)—The state of Pennsylvania has been awarded the $92,800 found in a south Philadelphia cellar March 15, 1947.

The money was ordered turned over to the state in escheat yesterday by Common Pleas Court Judge Eugene A. Allesandrini.

The court's order, handed down on a motion to dismiss the claims of the state-appointed escheator, B. Gruene Frazier, stated money "placed in the cellar of a private home, under such circumstance, is most probably the fruit of some illicit venture, of a nature such as to deter the owner from openly asserting his claim thereto."

Benjamin Lieberman, a $75-a-week bookkeeper, found the money in a cardboard box in the cellar of his home while looking for a light bulb.

A number of persons laid claim to the treasure trove but none was successful in the attempt to establish ownership of the money.

Three Lancaster county (Pa.) dairy farmers, as creditors of the defunct Victor Dairies, previously claimed the hoard represented the hidden assets of the company, for which Lieberman was once bookkeeper.

Lieberman may still lay claim to 25 per cent of the money as finder. He indicated yesterday he intends to make such a claim.

SHOKAN

Shokan, May 20—Earl Brundage, local horsehooper, has been busy attending to the hooves of seven saddlehorses which were brought up to George Hauser's Meadowland Farm Monday by Peter J. Maurer of Forest Hills, L. I. Mr. Maurer, a cousin of Mr. Hauser and proprietor of the Forest-Kew riding academy, plans to operate a similar business here and will augment the present riding stock by five more horses in June. Prospective patrons of the local academy will include young people from the big High Point summer camp at Broadhead. Meadowland is located a quarter of a mile west of Winchell's corner on Route 28, and is convenient to the Ridge Road, a shale-paved, mile-long stretch of woodland highway.

The heads of the Ashokan Sunday and day schools, Donald DuBois and Ruth West, respectively, have a pleasing custom of going around in their cars and gathering up pupils in inclement weather. Last Sunday was such a day and Don had his big new sedan well filled with youngsters.

The Temple's Pond section of the new Route 28 road line being muddled by mechanized equipment to negotiate the early part of the week, so shovels, caterpillars and trucks were put to work at making a wider cut in one of the Glenford shale deposits along the present state road. Preparations are underway to bridge the Ashokan brook which at the present time is feeding a large volume of water into the reservoir east basin. Concrete posts, similar to those used on the city's 40-mile fence, have been piled up on the one-time Chester Lyons garage lot, and the contractor has a big supply of drainage tile stored near his headquarters adjoining the Wendt garage.

Looking Backward
May 20, 1913: Session of appellate division of Supreme Court at Altamont. Enlivened by discussion of famous ginseng case of Emma Cudney whose farm at Olive was No. 643 on list of Ashokan condemnation cases. It was brought out that Mrs. Cudney had 6,000 plants and 15,000 ungerminated seeds in her ginseng beds, that there was a steady market in China for the roots which are highly prized for their aphrodisiac qualities, and that the roots are valued at $7 a pound and the seeds at $15-$30 a thousand. Judge A. T. Clearwater, counsel for Mrs. Cudney in this much discussed claim, said that "You have to handle these seeds as carefully as you would babies." It was also revealed that the ginseng farmer must wait five to seven years after planting, to harvest a crop. An Ashokan commission had previously awarded $8,707.50 (threw in the four bits for an extra root, maybe).

Grass is growing at an astonishing rate and some varieties have begun to head out, as a result of the recent copious rainfall. Our farmers, who in an ordinary season would have just begun to pasture their cattle, are now beginning to think about doing a little scything around the house and barn. They bring the principal crop on mountain farms, no one is likely to gripe about the heavy grass growth.

Here & There
Naturalist Vernon Haskins, who in his Durham Center column to the Greene County Examiner-Recorder, contributes such apt news items as "April left us with a bang, giving us a thunder shower in the late afternoon," has something to say about that old time belief in bee stings as a cure for rheumatism, as follows: "I'm here to testify that it worked in my case, at least. One summer while pretty well crippled up with the rheumatism (Vern spells like our Old Timer), I was trying to help a neighbor with his farm work. Getting tangled up with a swarm of bees, I tried to escape by crawling into some bushes. My head and shoulders were safe but the bees were bombarding the other parts of my anatomy. So I backed out of there and did a five hundred yard sprint to the barn, pursued by an angry swarm. I escaped by crawling under some hay but believe it or not, my rheumatiz had disappeared. Well, well; often that wasn't the Old Timer's misadventure of last autumn all over again! But sometimes the rheumatiz is too persistent for the bee cure; we knew a fellow who was stung to a fare-you-well by his own honey bees, yet as bent almost double by the ancient plague. Maybe, now, it was the wrong kind of bees. You were lucky, Vern, that those "bushes" weren't a wild blackberry patch—or were they?

Tough on Dog Catcher

Garden City, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—Pound Keeper Steve Wisniewski was handed a stray 200-pound St. Bernard dog Wednesday. The village allows him 20 cents a day to feed each canine in his care. Not enough, says the pound keeper, to buy the new inmate an appetizer. Dogged by reprehensive looks, Wis-man shares his lunch with the St. Bernard. Meanwhile, he's hoping the owner will claim the pet pronto.

Bergan Gets Briefs In Firemen's Suit; Decision in Week

Dispute Involves Amount of Salary Paid City Department; Held to '17 Figure

Both sides in the matter of the suit brought against the City of Kingston by the Kingston Union Firemen's Association, Local 461, over the amount of salary due the firemen have filed briefs with Supreme Court Justice Francis Bergan and are awaiting his decision. It was learned today.

Attorney Francis Martorelli, representing the firemen's union, filed his brief on May 11, and it was answered on Thursday, May 20, by the filing of a brief by Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly. Justice Bergan will now study the arguments and render his decision, which is expected in about a week.

The dispute involves the amount of salary paid the members of the Kingston Union Firemen's Association, Local 461, over the amount of salary due the firemen have filed briefs with Supreme Court Justice Francis Bergan and are awaiting his decision. It was learned today.

The firemen contended that the Board of Fire Commissioners had, according to the charter, legal right to fix the salaries. The city contended that the Common Council, with its power to adopt the budget and make the appropriations, is legally empowered to fix the salaries.

The case was heard in Albany before Supreme Court Justice Francis Bergan on January 23, at which time it was adjourned until February 6, to be heard in Kingston by Justice Bergan in special term.

At that time, the attorneys for both parties were given 10 days each to prepare their briefs. However, it was learned, the matter was delayed because the attorneys were unable to agree on certain facts.

Argument Is Had
Averil Park, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—For weeks the Edward Hoffas engaged in a running argument with a pair of scolding robins building a nest on their front porch. Today the Hoffas had lost the debate. The robins were raising a family of four. The Hoffas were using the back door.

Signs of the Times in Germany

Germans in Munich, birthplace of Nazism, stage a hunger demonstration to demand action against black marketers and an increase in the food ration. The demonstration was sponsored by the Social Democratic Party. Signs read (left to right): "Death Sentence for Big Operators and Black Marketers," "Give Us Workers Our Homes and Gardens Back Now in the Third Year," "Give Us Workers Our Worker's Settlements Back."

Coaxial Cable Is Placed in Service, New York-Albany

A long distance telephone cable of the latest type, containing eight coaxial tubes, was scheduled to be placed in service between New York and Albany today, according to the long lines department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The line, which passes underground near Kingston, will be used to relieve the heavy long distance telephone traffic along the New York-Albany route and will also carry network radio programs.

Each pair of the eight coaxial tubes is capable of handling about 600 simultaneous telephone conversations or two television programs. The cable also contains a number of ordinary wire conductors used for the control of the cable's complex operating equipment and for providing additional long distance service for cities along the route.

Refuses Rail Increase
Albany, N. Y., May 21 (AP)—The Public Service Commission refused today to allow the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to increase its minimum fare to 17 cents and its coach fare to 2.875 cents a mile, for travel within New York state.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 21 (AP)—Stocks recovered more lost ground in an active market today and approached their best average level in 21 months.

Demand for shares hit such a fast early clip that the ticker tape dropped as much as two minutes behind for a brief period. Sales of 660,000 shares were recorded in the fastest first hour since Monday.

Some of the oils, rails and liquors were singled out for special attention. Although not all of the initial gains were retained, bullish sentiment remained widespread.

Such discouraging situations as the continued deadlocks in negotiations on automotive, coal and rail disputes were virtually ignored.

Better advances were retained by Sinclair Oil (which opened on a 5,000-share transfer as new production records were reported), Texas Co., Pennsylvania Railroad, Illinois Central, Schenley, National Distillers, Goodrich, General Motors, Youngstown Sheet, American Smelting, Anaconda Copper, International Telephone, General Electric, du Pont and American Woolen.

American Distilling ran into profit-taking and gave up an early rise that had extended to around 3 points.

Bonds were steady, featured by sale of a large block of new Consolidated Edison convertibles, on a "when-issued" basis, at a new high. Commodities were narrow.

Local Steel Workers Return to Jobs Today

All employees of the Storm King Steel Corp., 154-180 East Strand, were back at work this morning following an agreement reached during a meeting Thursday afternoon between members of Bolleymakers Local Union 730 and the management of the concern.

George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent of the Kingston Metal Trades Council, announced. "The corporation agreed to rehire all employees without discrimination, including those who had been discharged Friday, May 14, Yerry said.

At the meeting it was also agreed by both parties to submit future grievances through regular grievance machinery set up by the union and management, according to Yerry. The present dispute, which resulted in a strike Friday morning, came about by failure to adjust what he termed "just grievances" on the part of both management and labor, he said. There was no wage dispute, Yerry added.

Malicious Lie, He Says
Washington, May 21 (AP)—Alvanley Johnston, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, today termed as "a malicious lie" a statement that he is advertising for new employees to break a strike in a Cleveland hotel owned by the brotherhood. Johnston hit back at his critics by saying he doesn't know what the strikers want. He said he thinks they are "just trying to take advantage of what I'm up against here" in efforts to reach a settlement with railroad employers.

Name Was Omitted
The name of Charles Katz, one of the directors of the Rondout National Bank, was inadvertently omitted by the bank in its official report and did not appear in the story of the bank's 80th anniversary in Thursday's Freeman.

Among the many who called at the funeral chapel during the bereavement were the Very Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury, the Rev. John Flaherty, the Rev. Edward Farrelly, and the Rev. Edward McGrath, the latter leading in the recitation of the Holy Rosary for the happy repose of her soul. Many beautiful floral pieces and scenes of Mass cards all testified to the high esteem in which she was held. Bearers were William Mooney, David Wood, Patsy Belsito, John Rapp, Lawrence Henze and Kenneth Newell. Burial took place in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery and final absolution was pronounced by Fr. McGrath.

Committeemen Was 84;
Was Ranger

George Garrison, 84, of Allergville, one of the two oldest committeemen for the Republican Party in Ulster county, died Thursday at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

Mr. Garrison became committeeman in 1902 with John W. Lent, 89, of Glasco who is still living.

His death was viewed today as a great loss to the party by James Simpson, secretary of the Ulster County Republican committee, and by Howard Anderson, former sheriff. Both praised the work of Mr. Garrison.

Anderson said "George was one of the hardest working committeemen on the party. We here in the Town of Rochester always went to him when in need of advice."

The surviving daughters are Mrs. Frank Barnhart of Waterbury, Conn., and Mrs. Merrick Bellows of Flushing, L. I. Seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren also survive.

Need in U. S. Today Is Rededication Of Selves to Nation

Every American owes it to himself to be re-dedicated to the nation in this hour of crisis, says the Rev. Dr. H. H. Stang, pastor of the Episcopal Church at the Kingston Hotel.

The speaker, introduced by George L. Chapin, of the church program committee, stressed the meaning of the American flag.

"This day means to me, he said, a re-dedication in our own hearts to the principles of the American way of life, and it has meaning for all of us now and for the future."

Stang said that the flag is the symbol of the American way of life, and it is the duty of every citizen to be re-dedicated to the principles of the American way of life.

The American flag has attracted millions from all parts of the world, and the power of the flag has contributed to the success of the nation as we know it today, he continued.

A sincere re-dedication to Americanism is currently needed, the speaker said, because too often when people become troubled, they are apt to look around for a easy way out, they are willing to add to any promise offered by a person with a silver tongue.

But, he said, the American flag is a symbol of the American way of life, and it is the duty of every citizen to be re-dedicated to the principles of the American way of life.

The freedom of speech and of opinion, and the freedom of religion, are the principles of the American way of life, and it is the duty of every citizen to be re-dedicated to the principles of the American way of life.

It is not necessary for a man to wave a flag to prove that he is a good American, he said, but it is essential that he be a good citizen, and a good citizen is one who is re-dedicated to the principles of the American way of life.

The speaker outlined the history of the American flag, and he said that the flag is a symbol of the American way of life, and it is the duty of every citizen to be re-dedicated to the principles of the American way of life.

Jackie Horner Gone Again, Also Mother

Los Angeles, May 21 (AP)—Run-away Jackie Horner is missing again, but this time mama is believed to be with her.

Jackie—that's Jacqueline Horner, 15, Hollywood pianist-actress—is the girl who ran away from home last January and was found a week later in a San Francisco hotel room with a sailor.

Superior Court Judge A. A. Scott yesterday ordered an all-points pickup broadcast for Jackie and her mother, Mrs. Clara Horner.

A probation officer told the judge that Mrs. Horner took the girl, a ward of juvenile court, from a rest home last week and that neither has been seen since last Saturday. Jackie was scheduled to be back at the home Monday, the investigator said.

The girl, when found last January, denied any wrong doing with the sailor, Wallace Wells, 19. Investigators agreed with her.

Coroner's Jury Can't Determine How Buono Died

Death of Thomas F. Buono, 21, of Saugerties, student at Notre Dame University, resulted from "undetermined causes," a coroner's jury held at Chicago yesterday.

The body of the young university student, who was to be graduated this June from Notre Dame, was found in the Calumet river at Chicago on April 13. Last seen in South Bend, Ind., where he had gone to search for a place for his parents to stay during the graduation exercises, the University officials reported him missing on April 2.

While home on Easter vacation, his father said, according to the Associated Press, his son had two teeth extracted and his dentist gave him a sedative to relieve the pain. A grain of the drug was found in the body, Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's physician, said.

Following recovery of the body from the river at 103rd street and Green Bay avenue, Chicago, investigating officials reported there had been evidence of foul play and a coroner's inquiry followed.

Middletown Man Gets Suspended Sentence

New York, May 21 (AP)—Robert M. Banker, 31, of 19 Liberty street, Middletown, N. Y., was sentenced to jail for three months, but execution of sentence was suspended pending good behavior, by Chief Magistrate Edgar Bromberger in Probation Court yesterday.

Banker was charged with failure to pay a hotel bill of $166.

"The chief magistrate suspended the sentence because the probation report on Banker, a former army lieutenant on terminal leave, showed he had an excellent military record and that he had made restitution to the Hotel New Yorker."

From past experiences, Mr. Bruhn said, it had been difficult to convict in the county on an abortion charge. Once before he told the court Mr. Kemble had been charged with abortion and had been found not guilty following a trial. For that reason he said he was inclined to accept the plea offered by the defendant.

Judge Loughran in the certificate states there is a "reasonable doubt" that the conviction of Henderson can stand on appeal and bail in the sum of $5,000 is continued.

40 Persons Lose Jobs Temporarily At Freight Office

Our improved pattern — with easy-to-see charts and photos, and complete directions — makes needlework easy.

A group of about 40 freight handlers and employees were temporarily laid off at the Kingston freight station today, it was announced at the New York Central freight office here.

The layoff, caused by the fact that there is a temporary drop in the number of freight cars arriving at the local station, will only last for a day or two, a railroad official said. Some of the men will report for work again tomorrow, while the others will be taken back on Monday, he said.

A seasonal decrease in the amount of freight handled is common during the month of June, but this year it has come a little earlier, it was explained.

The driver is in the safest place — protected by the steering wheel, he added.

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Claire L. Straith, chief of the trauma surgery division, Harper Hospital, Detroit, made this report:

Guest passengers in the front seat beside the driver are injured three times as often as the driver.

Denies Dewey Hookup

Frenton, N. J., May 21 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft today charged he had joined Congressman E. Dewey in a stop-Soviet move in the Oregon primary. Taft told newsmen as he headed for New Jersey bid for 35 unpledged state votes at the Republican National Convention, "I haven't spent a cent in Oregon and haven't any part in the campaign." Arnold E. Stassen, who is in a leadership role for votes in the Oregon primary, charged earlier this week that $250,000 was poured into the Taft-Dewey coalition.

Colonials Sign Warren Muller, Former Eastern League Star

Crack Southpaw Will Pitch Opening Contest on May 29

Stauble's Bakery Wallops Boulevard, 14-4

Warren Muller, a crack southpaw who led the Eastern League in 1941, has been added to the Kingston Colonial pitching roster and will pitch the opener on Saturday, May 29, Manager Joe Hoffman announced today.

Muller is the third signer by the Colonials, the other two being Johnny "Whitely" Tulacz, Poughkeepsie veteran, and Bill Windburn, of the City Baseball League. Muller is a native of Irvington, N. J.

One of the most highly rated moundsmen in semi-pro baseball, Muller is a major addition to the pitching corps, Hoffman believes. He dropped out of organized ball when the car came along and never did return because of a lucrative business.

Clutch Pitcher

The pitcher is fast and has a good curve and probably will draw the starting assignment against major opposition like the Negro National League clubs, the Dutchess County and other out-of-town travel teams.

Muller's signing virtually completes the Colonial roster for opening night. Manager Hoffman said he has a well known shortstop, signed and ready for delivery, and a pitcher on an announced "leave of absence" from work.

The third base post meanwhile is a well stocked but present in doubt as to whether Charlie Francello and Johnny Schatzel will share the corner duties. Francello has a large number of followers and is likely to get the starting call.

With the Colonial roster set on paper, Hoffman said he thought the 1948 club would measure up to standards of the past.

"I think Francello and Schatzel can play the hot corner," he said, "and the rest of the infield is set with Fred Price at first base, Johnny Kneale at second, and a shortstop already signed."

Hoffman predicted the outfield would have plenty of batting power with Steve Kistau in center, Jack Kohn in right and the left fielder to be chosen from among Bill Gantz, Big Ralph Tiano and Tom Hengerty. Whitely Tulacz also is available for outfield duty.

Tom Corrigan will be the first string catcher backed up by Bill Oien of the City League.

The opening night opponent for the Colonials will be announced tomorrow. Meanwhile club officials are making plans for an elaborate opening details of which will be announced in a few days.

A Sports Writer Speaks:
There is nothing new about that except most members of that cross section of the Fourth Estate allegedly go around talking through hats. If this be true, then Wesley F. "Bo" Gill, the energetic sports editor of the Newburgh News certainly upset tradition in his address before the Kingston Athletic Association Wednesday night.

Mr. Gill spent a great deal in lachrymose recollection of halcyon days of Newburgh Free Academy sports dominance. That was a long time ago, of course, but in between the pear shaped tears, the young man delivered a timely, solid message that scored a bullseye. It was one of the best speeches ever delivered before the K.A.A., which has had its share of good talkers.

Among other things, "Bo" deplored the hypocrisy of coaches and institutions that find escape in athletic defeats by posing as "character builders." "We must teach kids to win or teach them nothing at all," he said. "It pays off in life, it paid off in the battlefields of World War 2."

He Loves Durocher . . . Not
"Bo" dislikes Leo Durocher with the intensity that can be engendered only by a poison pen artist of the sports pages. He contrasted the two types—Durocher, the bellicose braggart, rowdy and questionable character—Shotton, kind, understanding, a man who inspired the youth of America by showing that you don't have to be a bully to win on the baseball fields.

"Shotton is the type of man who is a real example to American youth," Gill said. "Durocher isn't. Yet his reward for winning the National League pennant for the Brooklyn Dodgers was to get kicked down to Florida while Durocher emerged from the Netherlands of sportdom to regain his post at Ebbets Field. Somehow that doesn't seem like justice. Durocher, who boasts that 'nice guys don't win pennants' was a horrible example for American youth. Shotton was an ideal, a splendid example."

Gill nifts Newburgh Free Academy, once a DUSO sports powerhouse is slipping badly because the school, town and town spirit is missing. The municipal stadium setup is one of the finest in the country for a city the size of Kingston. . . . The K.A.A. is a unique organization and is doing a great job. . . . Coach G. Warren Kias and Bill Burke are tops in their profession. . . . They are highly respected in Newburgh and anytime Kingston doesn't want them, "we'll take 'em."

Flotsam and Jetsam:
The death in Paterson, N. J., on May 2 of Richard H. Cogan, a minor league pitcher in the 1890s brings a reminder from an unidentified "old timer" that Cogan played with Paterson in the Hudson River League in 1904 or thereabouts. Cogan managed the Paterson entry. . . . In and around that era and a bit later were some of the best old timers never stop talking about. . . . Artie Rice, Rube DeGroot of Hyde Park, Cy Conners and many others of the boxer roster period of the Athletic Field. . . . And they'll never let you forget about that historic 20-inning 2-2 tie between Kingston and either Paterson or Hudson. . . . The late Frankie Donnelly pitched all the way for Kingston that day. . . . If anybody knows the whereabouts of Tommy Lasorda, a baseball player, kindly let us know. . . . The Dodgers have converted Walt Kovalek into a right hander. . . . Maxie Adamechewsky says he was a third sacker in his high school days. . . . and come to think of it, he was. . . . "Buddy" Smith elected treasurer of the Varsity Club at Ithaca College. . . . Pine Bush High School boasts of a 250-pound right hander, in Jim Seeley. . . .

Everybody rooting for Bob Cullum to come through.

Jack Chichelsky, the howling-softball devotee, joins the staff tomorrow as author of a weekly column on softball activities. It will be known as "Circling the Bases."

MULLIGAN MIKE SAYS: About halfway through the grueling 26 miles, we should guess that the dearest wish of a Marathon runner might be that somehow he could win in a walk, instead.

Major League Roundup

By The Associated Press

BY JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer
Home Sweet Home has a strange tune in Brooklyn this year. Jeers instead of cheers greet the Dodgers after five straight defeats in "friendly" Ebbets Field.

No longer does a return to Flatbush guarantee success. First the Boston Braves and then the feared St. Louis Cards swept series in the flock's own backyard where the Dodgers are supposed to be toughest. Even the mighty Casey is getting the bumps.

Despite the Dodgers' depth in bright, young players who can run with the speed of light, they find themselves with an inadequate pitching staff.

Casey Gets Bumps
Hugh Casey was bumped again yesterday in his second straight relief appearance when the Cards slugged their way to a 13-4 slaughter.

The loss was charged to starter Joe Hatten who was battered to all corners in a six-run fifth inning. Casey and Clyde King also were treated roughly while Howie Pollet fanned the Brooks with nine hits for his fourth straight success.

As a result of the day's firing it, Ebbets Field, the Cards have a 2½-game lead over the runner-up New York Giants. Brooklyn is sixth, only six percentage points ahead of Chicago.

Card Manager Eddie Dyer was ejected by Umpire Art Gore after a bitter protest over a Casey pitch that hit catcher Del Rice in the head. Earlier Casey had hit Whitely Kurovski with a pitched ball.

Fox Stops Giants
The Giants lost ground when they were hogtied by Cincinnati's Howie Fox, 3-1. Fox, an early season "bust," hurled a neat six-hitter for his first win of the year. He started the game-winning rally with a single off loser Dave Koslo.

Elmer Riddle continued his remarkable comeback by blanking the Boston Braves with four singles while Pittsburgh clubbed Red Barrett and two successors for 17 hits in a 13-0 romp. Ralph Kiner hit his ninth homer and two doubles to ease Riddle's path to his fourth victory.

Chicago's Cubs rapped three Philadelphia pitchers for 14 hits in a 5-3 decision over Walt Dubiel.

18 Walks to Indians
Cleveland opened up a game and a half lead in the American by drubbing Boston, 13-4, at night after the runnerup Philadelphia A's bowed to Detroit in the afternoon, 4-2. The Indians profited by the generosity of southpaws Mickey Harris and Maurice McDermott who tied the major league record by walking 18 men.

Freddie Hutchinson rationed the slumping A's to five hits while Detroit banged Carl Scheib, Bob Savage and Charley Harris for 15 blows.

With Joe DiMaggio enjoying a field day, the New York Yankees gave the Chicago White Sox their daily whipping, 13-2. DiMag hit two homers, a triple, double and single for five hits in six trips, driving in six runs.

The St. Louis Browns hopped all over Washington for a 17-7 night verdict to move into fifth place, passing both the Senators and Red Sox. It was the highest run total of the year in the league.

City Leaguer Nines Continue Heavy Hitting

By The Associated Press

The "hopped up" baseball continues to take an awful beating in the infant City Baseball League season.

While three pitchers of varying degrees of efficiency toiled for Boulevard Gulf Gas, the dark horse Stauble Bakery swatsmiths scored runs in telephone numbers yesterday to register a decisive 14-4 victory before the faithful flock at the Athletic Field.

When Boulevard came up for their last turn at bat they found themselves trailing by the embarrassing margin of 14-0. They managed a four run uprising in the onrushing darkness to avoid a crowning humiliation.

Goff Hurls Well
A Saugerties battery of Bill Goff and Joe Benjamin was impressive for the Bakers who whacked Komosa, Steltz and Tomson of Boulevard for 14 safeties and had their path cushioned with six errors and three walks.

Goff meanwhile twirled five scoreless innings before he let up under a huge lead. He fanned four.

Score In Clusters
The Bakers set up shop early chasing across four runs in the second. Business picked up with five in the third, a pair in the fourth and the final trio in the fifth.

Joe Benjamin and Earl Sleight shared six of the 14 Stauble safeties. The Saugerties receiver rapped a single, double and triple while Sleight connected for three singletons. O. Felipe, A. Decker, B. Brown and R. Lucas each managed two hits. George Glaser picked up three of the six Boulevard hits with a triple and two singles. Frank's Sport Shop and Chez Emile are scheduled at 6:15 today. The boxscore:

Bus Strike at Stalemate

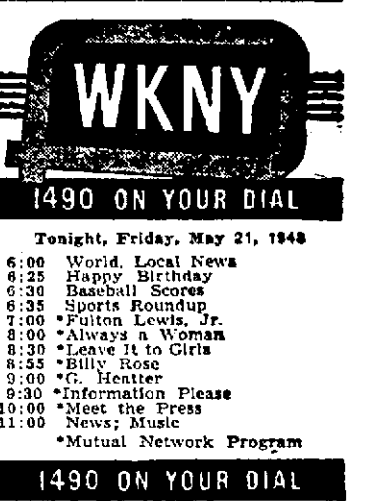

Bus Strike at Stalemate

Bergenfield, N. J., May 21 (AP)—The six-weeks-old Rockland bus strike was back in the stalemate today as negotiations which began Wednesday came to an abrupt halt last night as the 175 striking drivers rejected company offers of a 10-cent hourly wage boost. The drivers said they were still standing pat in their demands for a 12.24 percent increase in the next $120-a-year pay scale. A company spokesman said last night's session had ended a complete disagreement and that negotiations were broken off again.

Circus for Children

A group of 35 children from the Children's Home, 77 East Chester street, and from St. Anne's Convent, 287 Broadway, will be the guests of the Uniformed Firemen's Association of Kingston on Monday, May 24, when they will be taken in a chartered bus to attend the circus during its afternoon performance, Albert Hutton, president of the association, announced today.
